

But Men Still Fear Arbitrary Power in Any Government

Our editor has a high opinion of Dr. Edward W. Reed, professor of economics in the College of Business, University of Arkansas, and his opinion is further improved by our inspection of his new book, "Comparative Analysis of Arkansas State Expenditures," received yesterday's mail.

The foreword shows that this study was made by the Taxation Committee of the U. of A. jointly with the Arkansas Economic Council, State Chamber of Commerce, and was printed with funds granted by the Carnegie corporation, New York.

Dr. Reed's preface is remarkable for its compression in a few words of all the conflicting issues which make up the politics of our modern day. He writes:

"Expenditures by state governments have increased markedly during the last few decades, largely because of the urbanization of the population and the expansion of the economy. The advent of the automobile, for example, has brought about increased expenditures for highway construction. Too, the industrial revolution has magnified social problems, the alleviation of which requires expenditures for social welfare, health, and correction."

"Increased expenditures also result from a change in attitude toward government. Less than a century ago government was generally feared as a source of tyranny and arbitrary power. Its proper function was that of a 'passive' policeman and its principal duties were to provide protection from outside enemies and to guarantee individual freedom, so long as that freedom did not interfere with the freedom of others. But today many persons hold the view that government should provide a 'square deal' for the common man, partly by direct financial assistance and partly by establishing and enforcing 'rules of the game.' This objective, if sought, requires the performance of services which in turn necessitate additional expenditures."

Dr. Reed has accurately summarized the reasons behind the growing demand for tax revenues in our day — including the socialistic view, which he simply presents without comment, that the public owes many citizens "a living" whether or not they have done much to deserve it. And, as he says, if the majority should go along with this view then an extraordinarily large bill is added onto all the other tax bills we normally associate with government.

With only one sentence of his preface do I find fault — the sentence in which he infers that while men feared the tyranny and arbitrary power of government a century ago they do not hold those fears today. I think they still do. When government is clothed with unlimited power to dispense special favors to individuals that power inevitably becomes despotic. It was so in the days of the Roman Caesars and the free corn with which they corrupted the multitude. And what was true of emperors and kings and dictators has always been equally true of elective governments in the democracies — the arbitrary powers of the ruling class were perpetuated themselves in office, not to stimulate good and useful citizens and the general welfare.

All the so-called welfare schemes which we imagine to be new in our 20th century have actually been tried before. Many of them were in effect in Europe about the time our forefathers found Europe to be an intolerable place in which to live. The economic society was so tied up in frozen little knots of trade guilds or unions, both of employers and employed, that millions of men were virtually shut off from trade and commerce. It was politically expedient for government, then as now, to hearken to the voice of those already organized, rather than heed the demands, however just, of the millions who were not organized.

Indeed the people still do fear unlimited power in the hands of government, for government is comprised of men too much like the citizens themselves to rise to the high level of the actual text of well-meaning laws.

North Korean Training Post Is Levelled

By ROBERT UDICK

SEOUL, Korea. (UP)—United Nations fighter-bombers blasted a North Korean Army Training Center near the Yalu river with bombs and napalm today, leaving the sprawling target a mass of flames.

American Sabrejets patrolled the skies while the F-84 Thunderjets carried out the attack at Chusan, but no Communist MIGs appeared. The big MIG base at Antung in attack-free Manchuria was only 30 miles away.

Returning pilots reported they destroyed at least 10 buildings and touched off huge fires.

Other fighter-bombers attacked battlefield positions and bombed a rail bridge east of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. Two spans of the bridge were knocked out and a locomotive was damaged.

B-26 attack bombers began the air war today with an early morning strike on a Red supply center.

Stevenson Pleads for Demo Unity

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson asked some 1,200 Democratic austerity diners last night to "never sow division when it is so important to harvest unity."

They applauded his plea and also his declaration that "while we may be a defeated party, we are not a beaten party."

"I for one hope and pray that we shall be spared the spectacle of Democratic orators taking a leaf from recent history and mouthing nonsense about Eisenhower's War," he said. "Rather we stay out of office forever than win it back that way."

This was an apparent reference to Republican cries of "Truman's War" in the last campaign.

Senator Close to Ike Sees Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Frank Carlson said today that federal spending can be cut between $8,000,000,000 and $13,000,000,000, making way for a balanced budget and reduced taxes this year.

The Kansas Republican, one of President Eisenhower's closest advisers during the election campaign, made the claim in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate.

His estimate ran counter to gloomy reports this week that top administration officials now see little hope of balancing the budget in fiscal 1954, let alone this year. Carlson said firmly, however, that government spending has slumped in the first months of 1953. With this, plus the ruthless drive on waste, he said the government should operate on far less than former President Truman predicted for this fiscal year and next.

Carlson called for a $60,000,000,000 ceiling on spending for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, and for deeper budget cuts in the following 12 months.

These figures compare with Mr. Truman's estimates of $74,600,000,000 for the current year and $78,600,000,000 for next year.

Carlson, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said with the Hope Girl Is Sworn in as Member of WAC

February 24, 1953 — Miss Helen Dixon, daughter of Harry G. Dixon of Hope, Ark., was sworn in today as a member of the Women's Army Corps.

Helen was graduated from Bodcaw High School and was a member of the Corinth Baptist Church.

Following graduation, she was employed by the M. M. Cohn Co. of Little Rock and later studied bookkeeping with the G. G. Kennedy Audit Co.

She left, following her oath of service for Ft. Lee, Virginia, where she will take her Basic Training at the WAC Training Center. Upon completion of her nine weeks training, she will either attend one of 24 Army Service Schools for further training or will be assigned to direct duty.

Private Dixon has joined the rank and file of other young American women who have found opportunities for education, travel, and happiness in the Service of their Country.

Cost of Living Drops Slightly in January

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported today that living costs dropped two-tenths of one per cent between mid-December and mid-January.

The decline, mainly due to lower retail prices for food and clothing, was reflected in a new consumer price index put out for the first time today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The new index is designed to reflect consumer price changes more accurately than did the one used previously. It prices more items, covers more cities and brings the calculations up to date on new consumer buying habits.

The new index for mid-January is 113.9. Government living cost figures always are a month or so late because of time required to compile them.

The figure means that in mid-January living costs were 13.9 per cent higher than in January 1947.

Famous Penguins to Visit Hope Monday, Tuesday

Pam, the lady penguin, who broke an age-old tradition of that Antarctic clan by laying an egg in captivity and her traveling penguin pals will be in Hope Monday and Tuesday on their first visit to Arkansas.

The trio of penguins, the only ones on tour in the United States, are coming here with their owners, the McLaughlin Bros., of St. Louis, Mo., for the benefit of the Hope Lions Club.

Their vans, equipped with blocks of ice on which the birds like to stand, plus a small pond of water for their dips will be parked downtown opposite West Brothers store from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The public is invited to see these strange birds of the sea, the first to ever be transported in the U. S. No regular admission will be asked, donations will be accepted as the Lions Club organization will share in all receipts.

Unlike other wild life that changes mates each season, the penguins take their vows seriously and stay "married for life" the McLaughlins say.

"Penguins mate very early in life and are never far removed from their mates, and are very affectionate creatures," Mr. McLaughlin further stated.

The penguins which will be on exhibition here are the Humboldt variety, second largest type known to exist.

G&F Money Bill Gets Past Senate

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The controversial appropriation for the State Game and Fish Commission, defeated earlier this week in the House, passed the senate with "just enough change to make it legal" today.

Sen. Lee Reaves of Warren, chairman of the budget committee, told the Senate that one previous bill had been added to the bill but there had been no overall change in the amount appropriated. This, he said, is "just enough to make it legal."

The bill appropriates $1,006,790 for the next two fiscal years to the commission, which mostly supports itself through hunting and fishing fees.

The appropriation had been defeated three times in the House by a strong group of anti-commission by the Commission's refusal to adopt some legislative suggestions.

The vote on the measure was 27-0.

Winchell Enters Vice Trial Picture

By JAY BREEN

NEW YORK (UP)—The vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jolke produced another surprise today when Judge Francis L. Valentine announced that a vital "missing witness" was ready to take the stand only 90 minutes before the case was scheduled to go to the jury.

"I received a telephone call at about 11 o'clock last night from Walter Winchell (gossip columnist) who said he had and could produce Grace Appel in court if I wanted her," Judge Valentine said. "I said I did and she is here in chambers with Mr. Winchell and available as a witness for both prosecution and defense."

Defense Attorney Samuel Segal, who had brought Miss Appel's mother into court yesterday in a vain attempt to locate the childhood friend of Pat Ward, the states star witness against Jolke, jumped to his feet and asked permission to talk to Miss Appel.

Feels Every Community Needs a Law to Take Care of Its Many Floating Free Loaders

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (UP)—Legislation is like erosion. It changes things — but slowly.

Thousands of American legislators every year introduce thousands of bills designed to do everything from abolishing whooping cough to encouraging maternal instincts in the whooping crane.

This paper blizzard of proposed changes usually blows its way out with small results. A legislature is more inclined by human nature to pass the buck than to pass a controversial bill.

But the legislator who did introduce the bill is at least given the credit of a good intention. In this respect I have already picked my "hero" solon of 1953.

He is State Senator Walter Troxel of North Dakota, and he wants to make a simple, but far-reaching change in an old American social custom. He seeks to make it illegal for a fellow to belly up to a bar and buy a round for all his buddies in the joint.

Dulles Says No Outsiders Run State Dept.

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today in relation to congressional investigations of the State Department that its policies are not "being dictated" by any outsider.

"The responsibilities for the conduct of the State Department fall squarely on my shoulders and I expect to exercise them in a just and fair manner," Dulles said in a special statement at a news conference.

Dulles also said:

1. He would welcome any disclosures resulting from congressional inquiries that would help to make the State Department "more competent, loyal, and secure."

2. He was prepared to defend what he knew to be "sound and defensible" but that he was not prepared "blindly to defend a situation which was created under my predecessors and which I have not been asked to change."

Dulles was questioned about reports of poor morale in the State Department stemming from the investigation of the department's Voice of America program by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Communist Agents Seized in Germany

BONN, Germany. (UP)—West German federal police in pre-dawn raids today seized two more suspected agents of an alleged Czech Communist ring which Allied authorities suspect of planting spies among the thousands of refugees fleeing from East Germany.

Three other agents of the alleged Communist spy ring were arrested yesterday in Berlin by French and German police.

Berlin police said the espionage agency, with headquarters in communist East Berlin, is operating in West Berlin and West Germany.

Informed sources in the West German capital indicated additional arrests are expected.

British Seek to Stabilize the Pound

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (UP)—An informed source said today Britain has laid before the U. S. government proposals aimed at "real progress" toward making the pound sterling a freely convertible currency.

The proposals, understood to be hedged with various protective devices, would need U. S. approval and co-operation to become effective. As outlined, they would include:

A dollar fund to stabilize the pound, a plan for pegging prices of free world raw materials, and plans for tightening up on inflation in the British Commonwealth to give the pound a firmer value.

The proposals were sent here in advance of next week's visit by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, the source said.

They were described as the heart of talks in which the British hope to lay a foundation for an enduring

Ike's Denunciation of Russian Despotism Is Favored by Committee

Resolution Is Victory for President; Russian Moves in Germany Are Expected

By JOHN L. STEELE

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today unanimously approved President Eisenhower's resolution to condemn Russian violations of international agreements and expressing "hope" for the liberation of Soviet enslaved peoples.

The committee action was a victory for Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles who have been criticized by some Republicans for not advocating a tougher resolution — or outright repudiation of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) who has sought since 1949 to have the Yalta agreement repudiated, said the committee beat down every amendment offered to make the President's resolution "stronger."

Rep. John M. Vorys (R-O.) said the proposal probably will go to the House for a vote into next week.

Senate Minority Leader Robert A. Taft has proposed an amendment to allow "concern" of some senators that Mr. Eisenhower's resolution might be mistaken to mean "reaffirmation" of the wartime pacts. Taft's proposal would specify that no such reaffirmation is intended.

Construction Funds Asked by Cherry

LITTLE ROCK (UP) Gov. Cherry will wind up his legislative program with completion of a series of bills to appropriate $2,033,000 for construction at state agencies and institutions.

All state colleges, the University of Arkansas, the State Hospital, McRae Sanatorium, Arkansas School for the Deaf and the Confederate home all will receive slices of the construction money.

Cherry said the complete program, part of which has already been introduced in the Legislature, would exhaust all but $300,000 of the 2 millions for construction provided by the Revenue Stabilization Act. He said bills would be introduced to use the remainder of the money.

The difference between the funds provided in the Revenue Stabilization Act for construction and the total construction program will be made up of federal money, proceeds from bauxite and money "saved" in operation of state departments.

Among construction bills listed by Cherry yesterday were:

University of Arkansas $350,000 for an Animal Industry building, which the governor termed "the first step" in an expanded University research program.

Armory construction, $121,000 Arkansas State Teachers College Henderson, Arkansas $50,000

A&M, Southern State and Arkansas Tech, $300,000 prorated.

McRae Sanatorium, $60,000 for installation of a new sewage and water system.

A new Confederate Home on the grounds of the Arkansas School for the blind, $100,000.

The State Hospital Benton unit, $500,000.

Weather Reported Generally Fair

By The Associated Press

Generally fair and comparatively mild weather was reported over most of the nation today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said temperatures were above normal in nearly every section but some colder weather was on the way for north central areas.

Below zero readings were in prospect for Northern Midwest regions tonight, with lows of 6 to 15 below forecast for Northern Minnesota.

There were wet spots from East to West. Light snow fell in Western South Dakota, Eastern Montana, in the Great Lakes region and in Northern Maine. Rain and snow showers were reported in Michigan while showers hit areas in Western Washington and in the area around Brownsville, Tex.

Extended Forecast

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau said today that temperatures during the next five days will average near normal and that little or no precipitation is indicated.

Normal minimum temperature for the period from today through next Tuesday, the Bureau said, is 32-42; normal maximum 54-68.

The Bureau said it will be cooler about Sunday; warmer by Tuesday.

Vishinsky Stalls Debate on Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's reluctance to speak stalled the United Nations Korean debate today and resulted in postponement of further meetings until Monday.

Vishinsky did not even show up at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the general assembly's political committee, where he had been expected to answer the challenge of U. S. representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to disprove that Russia is responsible for keeping the Korean War going.

The foreign minister, Russian sources said, was writing the speech in which he eventually will reply to Lodge.

Observers speculated, however, that the veteran Moscow mouthpiece probably was awaiting instructions from the Kremlin, especially in view of President Eisenhower's offer to meet with Russian Premier Josef Stalin.

Iron Curtain sources here were inclined to dismiss Mr. Eisenhower's offer as being too hamstrung with pre-conditions to result in a meeting, but they left the impression of talking with uncertain authority. There has been no official public reaction from Moscow to the offer, and indications were that no advice had been received here privately, either.

Vishinsky has given no indication when he will answer Lodge's challenge. And until he speaks, not more than one or two other delegates were willing to take the rostrum. Committee Chairman Joao Carlos Muniz of Brazil was confronted with the problem of either taking up an item other than Korea or cancelling meetings for lack of speakers. He adjourned the national group until Monday at 10:30 a. m. EST.

Lodge served notice that he would move on Monday to get some time limit on the debate, in an obvious effort to smoke out Vishinsky in the event he still is not ready to speak.

Eisenhower Likes Toasted Nuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has an evident passion says Rep. C. A. Thorne (D-Ark.) for toasted mixed nuts.

Any prospective host or hostess to the President would do well to keep on hand an ample supply of them, Gathings tipped.

In an interview, Gathings said he discovered the President's penchant for nuts during a recent luncheon at the White House for members of Congress. He sat close to the chief executive, he said, "and I can tell you he really likes nuts."

"There was a fairly good-sized dish of mixed nuts along side the President's plate," Gathings recalled, "and he started nibbling on them right away."

Before the meal had ended, Gathings said the dish was empty and there was a slight suspicion that the President had dipped into an adjoining supply.

"Yes, sir, he certainly likes those nuts," Gathings said.

To Soon Test First Atomic Artillery Shells

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP)—Informed sources said today the world's first atomic artillery shell will be test fired in Nevada this spring.

The shell will be fired by the Army's 85-ton atomic cannon in connection with atomic tests starting at the Nevada proving ground March 17.

About 20,000 troops of all the armed services will conduct atomic maneuvers during the tests. One phase of the troop maneuvers will be held in connection with the first firing of an atomic shell. It was said authoritatively.

At what point in the spring test series the shell will be fired was not disclosed. The first explosion on March 17 will be a conventional test of what an A-bomb does to buildings. It will be observed by Civil Defense officials and members of the press.

Presumably the first test of the atomic shell will not be public.

Outside Judge to Direct HAC Probe

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A Pulaski County Grand Jury investigation of Arkansas Highway Department operations under former Gov. McMath will be directed by an "outside judge."

Circuit Judges Harry C. Robinson, Guy Amador and J. Mitchell Cockrill, in a signed statement, said the judge, to be chosen from another district, would be "given a free hand."

The judges said they could do no way in which all three of them could direct the jury. As was suggested by Robinson, who discharged a similar jury earlier this month.

A panel, previously chosen to convene March 2, was set aside yesterday and the judges said the "outside judge" would be given authority to choose his own jury for the investigation.

The September jury was dismissed by Robinson with the charge that a "slush fund" had been raised to assist in the investigations. The jurors demanded a change and two bar associations urged Robinson to continue the investigation under the March panel.

Robinson, appointed by Gov. McMath in one of his final legal acts, said he would sit with Amador and Cockrill during the investigation.

Yesterday's action was applauded by the Pulaski County Bar Association, which appointed a 3-man committee to meet with Robinson to assist him in working out an exchange of circuits with another judge.

Cost of Living cost above the average for the 1949-50 period, which is used as the index base. It is 0.7 per cent above a year ago.

Many labor unions had contracts under which wage rates were to be adjusted upward or downward according to changes in the old index.

A spokesman for General Motors Corp. said the new living cost figures indicated a one-cent-per-hour decrease in wages for about a half million of its employees.

It said, however, that's because of government delay in publishing an "old index" index no adjustment in wage rates would be made for the time being.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said a modest price decrease was general in most of the 40 cities at which prices were obtained for the new index.

Food declined 0.6 per cent during the month. This put it 1.7 per cent below a year ago but 12.5 per cent above the June, 1950, pre-Korean War period. Prices were lower for poultry, fish and dairy products as well as meat. Fresh vegetables were up a bit.

Clothing costs continued to decline and dropped one-half of one per cent between December and January.

The January decline was described as largely seasonal. It left living costs only 0.3 per cent under the all-time high record last November.

The new index, several years in preparation, is designed to provide a more delicate and accurate measurement of monthly cost changes for goods and services purchased by city families.

City indexes put out by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, an agency of the Labor Department, have been long accepted as a living cost barometer.

The new index is patterned after the Bureau's prior one, but it under prices on more items and covers samplings in more cities. It includes prices for the first time of such things as television sets, restaurant meals, legal services and banking fees.

The former index, using the 1949-50 period as a base, reached 191.1 last August. In December it edged down to 190.7, just a fraction off the record.

Today's index reflects the mid-January living cost situation. The index is always a month late, and is a little later than usual this month because of the change over to the new index.

at Pukchong, 75 miles southeast of the Manchurian border.

On the ground, the increased tempo of fighting along the snow covered front was marked by bitter no-man's-land clashes and by a Red attack on the Western front that was smashed by Allied big guns.

The B26's paced the air war today as fighter-bombers hit Red targets all along the fighting line and smashed trucks, bunkers and gun positions.

The twin-engine bombers destroyed 50 buildings swollen with supplies for the Reds eastern front at Pukchong, 70 miles north of the East Coast communications center of Hamhung.

Returning pilots said about 60 per cent of their bombs landed squarely on the target.

"Numerous fires and explosions covered the entire target," said Col. Robert E. Heating of Bellairs, Fla., commander of the 17th Bomb Group who led the attack.

"At least 50 buildings were destroyed and the fires were spreading when we left."

One of the bitterest fights of the ground war came on the Western front where an Allied patrol set up an ambush in no-man's-land.

At 2:15 a.m. (12:15 p.m. EST Thursday), the U. N. soldiers spotted a group of about 40 Chinese Communists approaching, but the Reds stopped when they were about 35 yards away.

The Communist patrol leader cursed his men for stopping. U. N. infantrymen said, and then "manhandled" two of his men.

When the Reds got to within 10 yards of the Allies, a 30-minute fight began. The Chinese tried to cut around the U. N. unit to cut off the Allies turned back.

By the Chinese patrol got between the Allied troops and the U. N. lines and another fight broke out in a brief but sharp battle. The Allies broke through.

of President Eisenhower's denunciation of Soviet "aggressive despotism."

The goal was overwhelming bipartisan support and a hunt was on, in both the Senate and House, for the right words to frame a resolution which would attract such a vote.

A hurdle to early Senate consideration developed yesterday in the foreign relations committee. Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) postponed action until next Tuesday while Secretary of State Dulles studies proposals by senators for a stronger and more far-reaching language.

This call for a tougher talking resolution was echoed by the House. As proposed by Eisenhower, the resolution would reject Russia's enslavement of free peoples through perversion of wartime agreements and would proclaim a hope for liberation of Iron Curtain countries. Some lawmakers urged condemnation of the one-sided agreements themselves and others want to express something stronger than "hope" of freeing Red satellite nations.

The Eisenhower resolution avoids criticism of terms of the agreements negotiated during the World War II administrations of Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

WASHINGTON (UP)—U. S. officials consider it entirely probable Russia will undertake one or more dramatic counter moves in Germany as Western plans for bringing West Germany into the anti-Communist defense system reach the decisive stage.

Only the Russians know what maneuvers military or political they may undertake. But their stake in trying to block a European Defense Community including West Germany is so great as to make it almost certain they will do something.

Authorities here have been aware for some days it was said, that the former chief of the Soviet general staff, General of the Army Sergei M. Shtemenko, has been in Russian occupied East Germany. Apparently they do not know why he is there or whether his presence is connected with whatever steps the Soviet high command may be planning.

Rumors circulated in Berlin yesterday that the Communists, in an effort to regain the political initiative in Germany, might try one or both of two possibilities:

1. The Russians might announce in May that as of June 1 they would withdraw their troops from Germany.

2. Moscow might come up with a new set of demands for unification of East and West Germany.

Unification is a political issue on which all Germans reportedly unite and which Russia and the Western powers all say they favor but under different conditions.

Experts here said there were other alternatives open to the Russians. For instance, they could make threatening new trouble over the Western zone of Berlin, which they have been progressively isolating from surrounding Communist territory.

Responsible officials here are inclined to doubt that the Russians would actually withdraw their occupation forces from Germany any time soon. They think that eventually the Russians will be pulled out by their troops. They also say privately that such action now would make a big impression on non-Communist Europe and probably bring on a relaxation of defense effort.

Cities Meet to Protest Decision

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Representatives of eight Arkansas cities meeting here yesterday demanded immediate action from the Civil Aeronautics Board on a decision for feeder airline service in Arkansas.

In telegram sent to the Board, the group demanded immediate action "due to the public's desperate need for air transportation."

The Board recently said it had delayed the ruling on a Central Airlines request to support feeder service until it heard a Texas to cut service case March 12.

The telegrams yesterday were signed by Willard Harrison, of Pine Bluff; Mayor Floyd A. Housley of Hot Springs; and Mayor Walter Loney of Camden.

Central and two other air lines have requested permission to operate lines through Camden, Magnolia, Hot Springs, El Dorado, Hot Springs, Camden and El Dorado were present at the meeting yesterday.

Dulles Says

today morale of good Americans in the department is at an all-time high and is low among only those who "have something to fear."

Dulles was asked whether he believed McCarthy was "encroaching" on the State Department. He said he was not going to give any lessons to Congress. He said he agreed with President Eisenhower that Congress has broad powers to investigate and that they should be respected. Dulles said he had no evidence that State Department morale was bad.

WASHINGTON (UP) Chairman Joseph R. McCarthy of the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee asserted today that morale is at an "all-time high" among the "really good Americans" in the State Department.

The Wisconsin Republican thus answered charges that his current inquiry into the department's "Voice of America" had demoralized the diplomatic service.

Reporters covering the State Department have observed a pervading atmosphere of gloom and depression among its employees in recent days. Career workers, who refused to be quoted by name, said they felt they had no one to "stand up" for them against attacks by McCarthy.

The Washington Post asserted in an editorial yesterday that State Department morale has been shattered by the fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles "seems to be the inert tool" of McCarthy's "intolerance" toward the department.

The editorial said the department "reversed itself" last week on three issues involving personnel and Voice of America policies "in difference" to McCarthy. It asserted that McCarthy "is now well on the way toward becoming . . . the department's administrator on personnel and procedure."

While McCarthy did not refer specifically to the Post editorial, his statement to reporters appeared to be a reply to it.

"They tell me the really good Americans over there—the ones who have been opposed to Soviet Russia demand the Acheson policies their morale is at an all-time high since Eisenhower and Dulles adopted a firm policy towards Russia, and since we have been exposing

They estimated they killed 35 of the 40-man Red patrol.

A Communist company of about 100 men launched an attack at Allied positions near Kelly Hill on the Western front last night but the attack collapsed almost as soon as it got started. Allied big guns laid down an hour and 15 minute barrage and the Reds withdrew.

The Reds hurled a 5,000-round artillery and mortar barrage at U. N. troops before starting the attack. An Allied listening post spotted the advancing Reds at 10:25 p.m., fired a few shots and then scurried back to safety.

Then the U. N. big guns were called in.

Slandering Letter

Dear Miss Dix: My son is in Korea and my daughter-in-law lives with me. She is a fine girl, goes to work every day and is at home with me almost every evening. My problem concerns an anonymous letter sent to my daughter-in-law accusing her of things I know she couldn't possibly have done. Should we keep the letter from my son?

MRS. B.

Consult Postal Inspector

Answer: Most certainly you should withhold the letter from your son. Regardless of how innocent the girl is of the accusations, there is no sense in planting a seed of suspicion. If you want to carry the matter of the letter further, take it to your postal inspector. Or your county district attorney. There should be a special, and horrible, punishment for people who go to such lengths to cause trouble. I'm happy that you have such love for, and faith in, your daughter-in-law.

Dear Miss Dix: My boy friend, 18, and I, 17, have been going steady for nearly a year. He is going into service and would like to know if we should continue going steady while he's away.

M. F.

Answer: If there's even a small question in your mind, the answer is a definite "no." For two people to continue going steady while the boy is away — probably over seas — requires the sort of devotion about which there is no doubt. At your age, it's much better to have the boy leave with just friendship between you.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 20 years old and very much in love with a man two years older. We have been dating for some time, and now I hear he is going to be married at Easter. Should I continue dating him? I know he's the only one I'll ever love.

ADA

Answer: Correction please! Believe it or not, you really will love someone else again! In the meantime, why not verify, with the boy himself, the fact of his forthcoming nuptials? If he confirms the rumor, you have little choice but to let him go. Do it gracefully.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 15, and like a boy of 17. I am sure he likes me, too, but here is the difficulty. He used to go with my girl friend, who gave him up suddenly. Then he began to go with me. Some of my friends say he still likes her, and when I ask him about it, he doesn't answer.

BRIGHT EYES

Answer: While it's quite possible that the boy still likes your girl friend, you have the advantage of being his current date, and it is up to you to charm him into a conviction that you are worth a dozen of any other girl.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man of 41, married 20 years. Although I love my wife very much, there is something wrong between us. Before our marriage she had a child by another man, and though I have tried, I can't forget the fact.

J. J.

Answer: You sure have a long-range memory, but since most men do have a marvelous facility for remembering the past indiscretions of their wives, it's always a good thing for the wife to guard her secret. In the case of your wife, of course, that was impossible, but since you married her in full awareness of her trouble, you should be man enough to forgive and forget by now. Look into your own past occasionally instead of dwelling so much into hers. Have you a completely clean slate? Remember, your wife was a very young girl at the time her baby was born; you are much older, and should be wiser now. In con-

Ike Trying to Preserve Party Unity

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, at his second White House news conference, was hit with a question loaded with dynamite. It was a legitimate question, but one which might have brought an explosive answer.

Do you think Sen. McCarthy's investigation of the "Voice of America" is helping the fight against communism?

Besides investigating the "Voice," McCarthy has been giving the State Department, under which the "Voice" operates, a pretty stiff time, forcing Secretary of State Dulles and his aides to back-track on some of the moves they've made.

Although McCarthy and State Department officials have given public assurance that all is harmony between them, there has been a lot of speculation in the past week on how long this publicly stated harmony would last.

Eisenhower responded to the question this way:

Well, he doesn't know exactly what McCarthy is aiming to do. It was a question he would not answer without a bit more preparation on it because he just hasn't thought about McCarthy's particular function, what he can do and

In advance, were called to testify today. Three were described as professors from the New York City area and the other as from Washington.

Earlier, Jenner had called Sen. Taft of Ohio the Senate Republican leader, "rather naive" for remarks he made in a speech in Chicago on Saturday.

"The record of this committee, when we complete our hearings, will be a complete answer to anything of that kind," Jenner said of Taft's speech.

Taft had said congressional investigators have the right to expose Communist teachers. But Taft, who is a member of the corporation of Yale University, also said, "I would not favor firing anyone for being a Communist unless I was certain that he was teaching communism and having some effect on the development of the thought of the students."

Jenner's statement today said his subcommittee has "overwhelming evidence... that there is a small but dangerous group of teachers in our public schools and colleges... this network is operated from Moscow through the Soviet disciplinary organs in this country."

"The first line of defense against this conspiracy," Jenner continued, "lies in our private schools and colleges and in the local government officials responsible for tax-supported institutions."

But he said they are struggling against "a world-wide conspiratorial organization" and cannot meet the threat alone. The function of Congress, he said, is to help them by dealing with "the national and international aspects of" this conspiracy.

Released by Bell Syndicate, Inc.

What would happen if he didn't do it. So, Eisenhower said, it is a question he couldn't answer yet.

Eisenhower has gone to a lot of trouble to try to have good relations with his fellow-Republicans in Congress. In the campaign he gave his endorsement to McCarthy.

So, unless he was ready to break with McCarthy after only a month in office, the news conference was hardly the time or place to announce the break.

Such a split, if it comes, would be of the deepest significance for Eisenhower and his future relation with Congress. It would affect the future of his whole administration.

So if he ever decides to be critical of McCarthy and other Republicans — and he didn't indicate yesterday that he had any such intention — he'll probably let it be known at a place and time of his own choosing.

Yet, an examination of what Eisenhower actually said in reply to the question about McCarthy shows that, while he withheld criticism, he didn't give approval, either.

It was the kind of reply a man can give when he had made up his mind to wait and watch developments before making a decision one way or the other.

Eisenhower's ability to handle himself in this particular question-answer situation was a pretty good illustration of how he conducted himself in the first White House news conference last week and this second one yesterday.

He didn't set the world afire. There was nothing extraordinary about either meeting with the newsmen. But he did it right. And he didn't put his foot in his mouth, which might have been expected from a man so new in his big job.

This is a tribute to the effort he must be making to learn his way around in the complexities of the government. For Eisenhower now is being daily confronted with problems he never encountered in his long military career.

He probably prepared for these conferences with the help of aides. Among them they could anticipate, at least in a general way, the main questions which would be asked and decide on the answers that should be given.

In other and quieter periods in American history, a four-year White House term might have been something like a four-year college course. A man could take his time learning, with leisure, to handle each new subject as it came along. In recent times the man in the White House has had to cram on

President Trades Grind for Golf

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower traded the busy grind of the White House for golf today and arranged for a vacation game at his favorite course, the Augusta National.

Eisenhower flew here from Washington late yesterday, found the Augusta weather warm, sunny and clear of rain for the first time in a week, then lost no time in whacking away until dusk.

The President, out of Washington for the first time since his inauguration Jan. 20, was accompanied by the captain of Mrs. Eisenhower, her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, Colo., and a small staff of White House aides. The party will return to Washington Sunday.

Indications were that Eisenhower would play the famed Augusta National Course today with close friends. On hand were the same three who teamed up with him when he spent two weeks here in the desert in November.

The deserts around the Red Sea have almost no rainfall, but the sea adds moisture to the air to provide a hot, moist heat.

CARAWAY (AP) — A searching party recovered the body of a commercial fisherman missing since Wednesday, from the St. Francis river near here yesterday.

He was Herbert McBroom, 45, whose boat was found snarled in a pile of brush along the river bank late Wednesday. The body was found near Mangrum's landing, about 21 miles east of Jonesboro.

'53 Pontiac

A GENERAL MOTORS MASTERPIECE

Solid Choice of Solid Citizens!

In its distinctive beauty, its size and comfort, its interior luxury and its all-around performance, Pontiac ranks high among America's quality cars — yet it's priced just above the lowest!

Thus Pontiac has an almost irresistible appeal to people who find it wise to keep their automobile investment at a minimum — without sacrificing quality. It is this unique combination of goodness and price which makes Pontiac the solid choice of those solid citizens who are money wise and quality conscious.

The reasons for this preference were never more obvious than in the 1953 Pontiac. But more important, it carries on Pontiac's tradition of long life and carefree, economical dependability.

Come in and see how this great new car offers wonderful proof that "Dollar for Dollar You Can't Beat a Pontiac."

More and more, India supports the position of Soviet Russia against the United States. A n d more and more it is being clarified that India's major fear is that an extension of the Korean War would involve India as a battlefield. The Indians have no means of defending their country against the forces of the United States, Soviet Russia or Soviet China and therefore strive to limit the war to Korea where the costs are borne principally by the United States.

In his recent address to Parliament, President of India, Dr. Rajendra Prasad said:

"Certain statements recently made and the consequences that might flow from them in extending the war in Korea, have caused considerable apprehension in the minds of people all over the world.
My Government has viewed these developments with grave concern I trust that any tendency towards an extension of the war, which has already brought disaster in its train, will be checked, and the minds of nations and peoples will be turned towards a peaceful approach to these problems."

What working for peace means is not clear. Thus far, any proposals made by India have been to the advantage of Soviet Russia.
Dr. Prasad made the point that India pursues a policy of friendship with all countries "without any alignment with one group of nations against another." If friendship is established by working to give a victory to our enemies, then India has shown us friendship.

Otherwise, it must be regarded that India is accepting the Russian position, namely, that Stalin's peace terms benefit the world.

One of the major difficulties that face the American people in arriving at conclusions concerning our international relations is that the "One World" propaganda and support of the United Nations have caused us to forget our own country and the fact that it is Americans who die on the battlefield while all the little and weaknadio. It would appear that the United States has no right to form a policy of its own.

Dr. Prasad said that the Indian government had labored to build a new and prosperous India, but "the problems of the rest of the world thrust themselves upon us and we cannot avoid them or isolate ourselves from them."

The United States is in much the same position as India: the problems of the whole world have been thrust upon us and we cannot isolate ourselves from them. The only difference is that the United States is called upon to pay the bills not only in money, but, in lives.

Whenever an effort is made to re-establish our position on a rational and equitable basis, a great outcry goes up in Europe and Asia.
Even when it is suggested that the American taxpayer has contributed enough to support the selfish policies of other countries, we are, in effect, regarded as robbers because we wish to hold onto our own money.

"The Times of India" comments on this:

"President Eisenhower brings a military mind to bear on the problems of peace. Like any other soldiers, he delights in hunting for peace with a gun."

As false as that statement is, it is accepted in many countries which want our financial aid but reject our right to fight for our survival.
We have been bogged down for almost 20 months in true talks, while fighting in Korea continues and American casualties mount.

Yet, so influential a newspaper as "The Times of India" can say to its readers that Eisenhower, in effect, enjoys the hunt, Eisenhower is a meaningless, purposeless war which he must end with honor and dignity.

It would be a sad day for India if the United States withdrew from Korea, freeing the Chinese Communists to march on French Indo-China, Burma and Nepal. It would be a sadder day for India if Russia felt free to move into Pakistan, to seize Kashmir, and to tie on the borders of India, waiting for a combined Chinese-Russian action against that country.

Then the Indians would pipe another tune, calling for our help, as so many other nations call for our help in their moments of desperation. The help then might not be available, for, as neutralism grows in these countries, more of our people are turning colder to pouring aid into lands where what we do is not appreciated.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago
Cubs surprised the pants off a great many persons, including themselves, by leading both big leagues in exhibition victories last spring and then taking a real flyer at the National League flag before a series of infield injuries began chopping them down in June.

We recall with some pain that, at about this time, we indulged in some mild kidding of their new manager, Phil Cavarretta, because he couldn't think up much of anything to say about his club except that his players, such as they were, were doing a great deal of running and would be in shape when the season began.

Well, that was a year ago, and Cavarretta has proved himself a surprisingly fine manager. Hank Sauer has developed into one of the game's authentic sluggers, and there will be no more kidding of the Chicago Cubs. They finished fifth despite a terrible run of luck and they are talking of showing some club out of the first division, maybe the New York Giants.

"About all we need is another power hitter to back up Sauer and another good starting pitcher in the class with Bob Feller and Warren Hacker," Cavarretta said.
"I suppose we have a little shortstop problem, too, but this could be the year that Roy Smalley lives up to all his promise if he has recovered from the leg injury that troubled him last season."

Phil is deadly serious about converting either Preston Ward or Leon Brinkopf, or both, into outfielders now that he has no real reason to hope he will be the winner in the great Ralph Kiner sweepstakes. Both Ward, a first-baseman just back from the service, and Brinkopf, a third-base, man, hit with good power, the latter having potted 27 home runs for Los Angeles last year.

This is the year, incidentally, that Phil hopes finally to sit himself on the bench and stay there.
He will be 37 within a few months and he feels he is beginning to creak. With Dee Fondy, one of the club's two 300 hitting regulars, ready to go all the way at first,
and with Ward in reserve, there appears no good reason for Phil to go on sweating and striving.

Only the Himalaya Mountains are higher than the Andes in South America.

With all countries "without any alignment with one group of nations against another." If friendship is established by working to

Four Berths Remain in NIT Meet

By JOHN GRIFFIN

NEW YORK, (UP) — The four remaining berths in the National Invitation Basketball tournament will be filled from this group of five teams — St. Louis, Niagara, Georgetown, Holy Cross, and the Skyline Conference runner-up.

It was reliably learned that bids have been sent in all five cases, although only St. Louis has announced receipt.

The N. I. T. frankly does not expect Holy Cross to accept, believing that the Crusaders will elect instead to be the New England Conference representative in the N. C. A. A. tournament. The others, however, are believed ready to accept.

The Skyline Conference situation, where the champion goes to the N. C. A. A. tournament, may be greatly clarified tonight when Brigham Young, leading with a 9-1 record, visits Wyoming, runnerup with 9-2.
Brigham Young can clinch a tie for the conference title by winning, and in that case Wyoming would be free for the N. I. T.

Should Wyoming win to scramble that race, or should one of the other teams unexpectedly decline, that would open the N. I. T. door for such outside chances as Iowa College (17-3), Murray State (17-7), or Marshall (17-4).

California can clinch a tie for the Southern division title in the Pacific Coast conference tonight by beating Stanford. The Bears would clinch the crown outright if they won while runner-up U. C. L. A. lost to Southern California.

The Southern division titlist must meet Washington, northern division winner, in a two-of-three playoff for the N. C. A. A. berth.

Another big game tonight sees Seton Hall, the only major unbeaten team in the nation, try for a record "perfect record." The Pirates from South Orange, N. J., will be trying for their 27th win in 27 starts when they play host to Baldwin-Wallace.

YOUR

VISION

What you see and what you look for, when you read, makes a difference. Vision is 87% of all avenues to the brain. Can your vision distinguish between good and evil, honor and dishonor? Jesus said, If your eye leads you into sin, pluck it out. The library of your church will give you reading of 20-20 vision for the soul.

The Bible, in any version, is the world's best reading. Has your Bible reading vision become impaired? Do you develop astigmatism when you start reading God's word? What reading the Bible has done for others... it will do for you. Read it with 20-20 vision of mind and of soul.

Cold Air Howls
Through Midwest
By United Press
A cold shaft of air howled into the upper Midwest today, turning light rain and drizzle into cutting barbs of sleet. The mist-like rain extended to the Gulf Coast but elsewhere it was mostly sunny.
Gulf Coast States got the biggest share of the rain with Montgomery, Ala., recording 1.34 inches in a 24 hour period.
A midwest forecaster said light rain would continue through most of the day in the southeast but partially clear skies were expected in the Midwest. Light snow was forecast in the upper Great Lakes region.
Another band of light snow stretched along the Rockies, but the rest of the west was fair and mild.
Temperatures nationwide, ranging from 20 to 60 degrees, were in the Telephone Strike Averted at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—A threatened strike of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employees in six states was averted early today when company officials agreed to promote an employee.
Dallas telephone employees, members of the CIO Communications Workers of America, voted to strike last week in a dispute over rehiring of a former employee in her old job as head clerk in the directory section.

Federal-State Tax Division Is Studied

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower called in a delegation of state governors, GOP congressional leaders and administration officials today to seek a solution to a knotty problem; federal-state division of tax revenues.
After the conference and a White House luncheon the President planned to fly to Augusta, Ga., for a relaxing week end of golf. He will return to Washington Sunday.
Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that today's meeting will deal with:
1. Division of tax fields and tax revenues, a problem the Conference of State governors has been grappling with for years.
2. Federal-state relationships under the social security program, including unemployment compensation, old age assistance and aid to dependent children.

An Eisenhower aide said the conference would dig into the problem of double taxation — federal and state taxes on, for example, incomes, gasoline, cigarettes, liquor and inheritances.
There has been talk that the Eisenhower administration might propose that the states get out of the income tax field in exchange for the federal government bowing out of other areas.
However, such proposals have been discussed for years at governors' conferences without any concrete action.

King Arthur's spirit is said to live on Snowdon Mountain, highest peak in Wales — 3,560 feet.
From the 30s in the northeast, central Rockies to the 80s in Florida, Los Angeles was expected to hit 72 this afternoon.

Arkansan to Die for Slaying

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—An Arkansas soldier is to die in the electric chair at Huntsville June 2 in the fatal shooting of an El Paso taxi driver.
Death sentences were read yesterday to Pfc. Marvin Lee Austin, 21, Marmaduke, Ark., and Pfc. Raymond Leslie Button, 22, Des Moines, Ia., by Federal District Judge R. E. Thompson.
The pair was found guilty of shooting Jesus Alvarez Gonzalez to death on a road near Ft. Bliss on Nov. 22.

Huge Building
If spread out in the usual style of college buildings, the University of Chicago's 48-story Cathedral of Learning would spread the 43 acres of land surrounding the structure.
